AUDITORS' REPORT OF THE TOWN OF CONCORD, VT., FOR THE YEAR ENDING ...

ANNUAL REPORT

CONCORD

1938

A BRIEF HISTORY OF CONCORD

The rights of the town of Concord were given by the legislature in 1780, and in 1781 the town was chartered to Reuben Jones and a company of 64 others. The first permanent settlement was made in 1783 by Joseph Ball on the Connecticut River meadows — on the Caswell Farm as it was later known. John Ball, his son, born in 1789 was the first child born in Concord.

The town grew slowly and as late as 1799 had only nineteen families on the poll list. At this time the following names still found in Concord were on the check list — poll list as it was then known — Cutting, Morse, Streeter and Williams, as well as many from whom the present residents of Concord are descended.

The first town meeting had been held in 1794 and until well into the eighteen hundreds the number of voters was so small that each meeting was held in a private home, which more often than not was a log cabin for many years.

In tracing briefly the growth of the town through the century we find the building of a Congregational Church; the establishment of the Reverend Samuel Reed Hall's Normal School, the first in America, in 1823; in 1825 by act of legislature the founding of the County Grammar School to receive the rents arising from the grammar school lands in Concord; a post-office in 1830 with Azarias Williams as postmaster; the first saw mill in 1838, a grist mill in 1840, and the railroad in 1870-71. Before the era of the railroad a coach road went through to the east — a road on which man and beast were frequently held up by mud or high water for hours each day.

In the early part of the century an M. E. Church was built in "old" North Concord; the First Universalist Church in West Concord which was dedicated in 1844; a Baptist Church in the Texas district; the M. E. Church in West Concord in 1874. Later an M. E. Church was erected in East Concord and an Episcopal Chapel in West Concord.

With the coming of the railroad, business began to increase in West Concord; mills, foundries, and stores were established and the population shifted from the hill and the Connecticut meadows to the growing village by the Moose River. At North Concord the saw mills put out nearly three million feet of lumber in 1885, and East Concord added another million feet. As the timber was cut off the people from these districts tended to come to West Concord and that village eventually succeeded to the name of Concord, while Concord Corner was applied to the site of the first Concord.

Following the Civil War the population grew for a time, but, as the best timber was cut and shipped the town ceased to grow and early in the century the activities became largely agricultural, though the stone cutting business and a few mills remained. The activity of most of these was injured by the World War and since that date the town has been listed by the federal census as an agricultural center.

Improvements

During the past year the window lighting has been corrected in two rooms at the Judevine Memorial School and the ceiling of this building was insulated with rock wool. A considerable amount of work was done to provide better drainage around this school building.

Improvements were made to the playground apparatus at the Brook School, Texas, and at East Concord.

A Home Economics Department was added to the High School.

Health Work

Health work carried on in the public schools as a service rendered by the State Department of Health was as follows:

Dental Service

Talk by C. J. Speas, Director of Dental Hygiene, on Dental Health.

Prophylaxis for 184 pupils by Miss Henkle, Dental Hygienist.

Nursing Service

Miss Miles weighed, measured, tested vision and hearing of 254 children previous to the medical examination by Dr. Dickson and made 61 follow-up home visits. She also made arrangements for immunization clinics for all schools, financed by the parents, at which Dr. Dickson gave toxoid to 73 children and small-pox vaccination to 64.

Medical Examination

The School Board provided funds to pay for the examination of all school children by Dr. F. R. Dickson.

CONCORD TOWN REPORT

At the Judevine Memorial School there are still three rooms with defective window lighting. The electric lighting is incorrect and inadequate to meet accepted standards in all rooms.

The North Concord School no longer rates as a Standard School, as it fails to meet the State requirements both as to light and toilets.

The Brook School is in need of interior painting. This will doubtless be done during the coming summer. The same work should be done at North Concord, as it does not appear to be possible to remodel the building this year.

At the High School additional equipment will be required for the second year of the Home Economics Course. The library at the school is also entirely inadequate to meet the minimum State requirements.

While much progress has been made during the past two years to improve the textbooks in use throughout the Town, there is still considerable need to replace badly soiled, worn out, and obsolete books.

Because of the deficit in the school account at present it will not be possible to make any improvements in the school buildings during the coming year, but we have these conditions in mind and hope to gradually remedy them as soon as finances will permit.

Raymond Anderson,
Superintendent.

There are now approximately 2200 books on the library shelves. More shelves have been added and books rearranged but the room is quite crowded.

129 books have been added this year of which 22 were given by individuals and 17 by Carnegie Endowment Fund.

96 books have been borrowed from the State.

The circulation this year has been larger than ever. 6992 books and magazines have been loaned. This is an increase of 1132 over last year and 277 more than two years ago.

583 books and magazines have been sent to schools with a circulation of 738 reported.

CONCORD TOWN REPORT

CONCORD OF TO-DAY

Concord village is located on Route U. S. 2 eight miles east of the junction of U. S. 5 and U. S. 2 at St. Johnsbury. It is served by the following public utilities:—the Maine Central R. R., Twin State Gas and Electric Company, and the New England Telephone Company.

The largest business in the town of Concord at present is the creamery operated by the New England Dairies. The chief products are cream, casein, butter, skim milk and skim milk powder.

Besides the creamery there are four grocery stores, a hardware store, drug store, garage, saw mill and stone shed in the village.

A saw mill has been built at North Concord recently and a general store is located there. There are four stores at East Concord and one at Miles Pond.

During the past summer Moose River Lodge, F. and A. M. purchased the M. E. Church and remodelled it into a Masonic Temple, considered the finest in New England in a town of this size.

Besides the Masonic orders there are I. O. O. F. and Rebekah lodges, Women's Relief Corps, Grange and Modern Woodmen of America.

Quite an extensive summer business is developing around Miles Pond where there are now about fifty cottages; at Shadow Lake where there are thirteen more cottages and at Concord Corner where Shadow Lake Rest accommodates many guests in summer and a lesser number for winter sports. During the summer, the old school building in which the Essex County Grammar School was conducted for many years was purchased, moved and converted into a home. Robert Frost, the poet, purchased the Richardson and Williams places and remodelled them for summer homes for himself and son.

In 1936 Concord was the only town in Essex County to be awarded a diploma from the Vermont Chamber of Commerce for improvement in town reports. Last year's report was also awarded a diploma.

In 1936 Concord became a part of one of the units established in Vermont under the Maternal and Infancy Division of the State Department of Health made possible by Federal Social Security Funds. Miss Margaret Miles, R. N., in charge of this work, has rendered capable and helpful service to many families as shown by the following report:

Nursing Service in Concord Township

September 1, 1936 to February 1, 1938

The nurse has made the following visits in the above period:

Maternity (including 13 deliveries) -----	278
Illness -----	95
Health Supervision -----	226
Miscellaneous -----	114

Total	712
-------	------------

In addition to these visits and her work in the schools, described in Mr. Anderson's report, Miss Miles has conducted two infant and preschool clinics, at which Dr. Dickson examined forty children, immunized 35 against diptheria, and vaccinated 2 against smallpox. She has had three series of classes in Home Nursing and the Care of Mothers and Babies.

ANNUAL REPORT

CONCORD

1939

A BRIEF HISTORY OF CONCORD

The rights of the town of Concord were given by the legislature in 1780, and in 1781 the town was chartered to Reuben Jones and a company of 64 others. The first permanent settlement was made in 1783 by Joseph Ball on the Connecticut River meadows — on the Caswell Farm as it was later known. John Ball, his son, born in 1789 was the first child born in Concord.

The town grew slowly and as late as 1799 had only nineteen families on the poll list. At this time the following names still found in Concord were on the check list — poll list as it was then known — Cutting, Morse, Streeter and Williams, as well as many from whom the present residents of Concord are descended.

The first town meeting had been held in 1794 and until well into the eighteen hundreds the number of voters was so small that each meeting was held in a private home, which more often than not was a log cabin for many years.

In tracing briefly the growth of the town through the century we find the building of a Congregational Church; the establishment of the Reverend Samuel Reed Hall's Normal School, the first in America, in 1823; in 1825 by act of legislature the founding of the County Grammar School to receive the rents arising from the grammar school lands in Concord; a post-office in 1830 with Azarias Williams as postmaster; the first saw mill in 1838, a grist mill in 1840, and the railroad in 1870-71. Before the era of the railroad a coach road went through to the east — a road on which man and beast were frequently held up by mud or high water for hours each day.

In the early part of the century an M. E. Church was built in "old" North Concord; the First Universalist Church in West Concord which was dedicated in 1844; a Baptist Church in the Texas district; the M. E. Church in West Concord in 1874. Later an M. E. Church was erected in East Concord and an Episcopal Chapel in West Concord.

With the coming of the railroad, business began to increase in West Concord; mills, foundries, and stores were established and the population shifted from the hill and the Connecticut meadows to the growing village by the Moose River. At North Concord the saw mills put out nearly three million feet of lumber in 1885, and East Concord added another million feet. As the timber was cut off the people from these districts tended to come to West Concord and that village eventually succeeded to the name of Concord, while Concord Corner was applied to the site of the first Concord.

Following the Civil War the population grew for a time, but as the best timber was cut and shipped the town ceased to grow and early in the century the activities became largely agricultural, though the stone cutting business and a few mills remained. The activity of most of these was injured by the World War and since that date the town has been listed by the federal census as an agricultural center.

Improvements

Interior painting was done at the Brook School, North Concord, and the Village Primary room. Some additional desks of the adjustable type were purchased for the High School and the Home Economics Department was supplied with equipment for cooking work. A fence was constructed around the village school ground and at East Concord the ceiling was insulated with rock wool.

CONCORD TOWN REPORT

Instruction

For the most part the work of the schools is going well. Scholarship tests show some gains over last year. More attention is being given to health work through instruction and supervised recreation.

Needs of the Schools

At the Judevine Memorial School there are still three rooms with defective window lighting. The electric lighting is inadequate in all rooms. We hope to remedy these conditions somewhat during the coming year.

W. M. Bedell, Treasurer.

The past year has been a busy one for the Library. Trying to meet the demands of the schools and public with our limited funds and housing space has not been easy.

117 books have been placed on the shelves. Of these 92 have been bought with town funds, 7 have been given by the authors or publishers, and 18 by the Carnegie Endowment Fund.

20 publications have been regularly received. Several of these are gifts.

132 books have been borrowed from the State and Regional Libraries.

50 books have been mended by the St. Johnsbury Regional Library at a small cost.

The total circulation of books and magazines from Feb. 1, 1938 to Feb. 1, 1939 has been 6467.

Of the 498 books loaned to outside districts 171 have gone to East Concord in charge of Mrs. Lenna Keneson, 97 to North Concord, 72 to the Texas district and the remainder to the Judevine Memorial School.

Jean F. Bedell, Librarian.

CONCORD TOWN REPORT

CONCORD OF TODAY

Population of Town 1043 — Concord Village 353

Road mileage 81.33 miles

Concord village is located on Route U. S. 2, eight miles east of the junction of U. S. 5 and U. S. 2 at St. Johnsbury. It is served by the following public utilities: — the Maine Central R. R., Twin State Gas and Electric Company and the New England Telephone Company.

The largest business in the town at present is the creamery in Concord Village, operated by the New England Dairies. The chief products are cream, casein, butter, skim milk and skim milk powder.

Besides the creamery there are four grocery stores, a grain store, hardware store, drug store, garage and saw mill. The last of the granite business has been moved out of town.

There is a saw mill and a general store located at North Concord. There is one store at Miles Pond and four at East Concord.

During the past summer the interior of the Town Hall was much improved with painting and new electric fixtures. The I. O. O. F. hall was also redecorated.

The fraternal orders include the Masons, Order Eastern Star, the I. O. O. F., Rebekahs, Women's Relief Corps, Grange and Modern Woodmen of America.

Quite an extensive summer business is developing around Miles Pond where there are now about fifty cottages; at Shadow Lake where there are thirteen more cottages; and at Concord Corner where Shadow Lake Rest accommodates many guests in summer and a lesser number for winter sports. During the summer three homes in Concord Village are open to tourists and "Unceeda Lunch" serves meals to them.

The town maintains graded schools at East Concord (three rooms), Texas district, North Concord, Brook district, and in Concord Village.

The Essex County Grammar School Funds were transferred by an act of legislature, from Concord Corner to the Village school soon after the opening of the Judevine Memorial School, built during the summer of 1899. After maintaining the Concord Academy for a few years, a Junior High School was started the fall of 1916 which became a Junior-Senior High School by vote of the town in 1922.

Services are maintained in three churches in town: Universalist and Episcopal in Concord Village and Methodist Episcopal in East Concord.

CONCORD TOWN REPORT

In 1936 the Concord Public Health Nursing Unit, under the Maternal and Child Health Division of the Vermont Department of Public Health, was established. This unit includes the towns of Concord, Lunenburg, Victory, Granby, and the southern part of Kirby. It was the second unit to be established in Vermont.

During the time Concord has had the public health program many of the citizens have come to realize how helpful and valuable this service really is.

REPORT OF THE PUBLIC HEALTH NURSE

The following report is given for the year 1938 from January 1st to December 31st, and includes only the work done in Concord, in the hope that it will add to the knowledge of the type of service the service carries on in your community.

Pre-natal Service: 40 visits were made to 15 expectant mothers.

Delivery Service: Assisted the physicians at 16 home deliveries.

Postpartum Service: 276 visits were made to new mothers and babies.

Infant and Pre-school Health Supervision Service: 130 visits were made to the homes of children in this age group for the purpose of weighing, assisting the mothers with the diet and training the child in good health habits.

Medical Conferences: 41 children from infancy to school age attended the ten conferences held in the Town of Concord. At these conferences each child is given a physical as well as a dental examination.

17 children were vaccinated against small-pox.

22 children were immunized against diphtheria.

Other Activities: For May Day Dental exhibits were displayed in the Concord School especially for the primary room, and children in the other rooms were invited to share the exhibit and discussion.

I wish to express my appreciation for the friendliness and splendid cooperation I have received from the people in the town of Concord, and especially to Dr. Dickson for his untiring help and support, in carrying on our program.
